After the fall of Quebec, Vaudreuil withdrew to here and then to Montreal, leaving small detachments along the river during the winter of 1759-60.

French position outflanked and abandoned, 27 August 1760. Cartiers' route through Sorel to Montreal.

Levis (8,500) advanced on Quebec, April 1760.

Levis retreated May 1760. Most of his Canadian militia and Indians deserted.

Haviland (3,400) advanced from Crown Point, August 1760.

Amherst (10,000) advanced from Oswego, August 1760.

Wolfe, June 1759

Most of his Canadian militia and Indians deserted.