Problem of the Week
Week # 19

Among all the numbers, there are just four that can be represented by the cubes of their digits; they are, in other words, equal to the sum of the cubes of their digits.

Without mechanical help, what four numbers are they?