Situation At Time Of Surrender At Santiago, 14 July 1898

American troops extended on this flank after failure of Cubans to halt, or even delay Escario’s force.

Santiago reservoir located here. Americans cut off supply.

Over 15,000 refugees from Santiago concentrated here, taxing ability of army to feed them.

Cubans given duty of protecting against possible Spanish relief columns.

Santiago, Cuba 1898
The Spanish-American War
The Santiago Campaign

HISTORY DEPARTMENT
USMA