Spanish “attack” on the night of 31 July consisted only of a sudden and heavy fire action, the Spaniards remaining in their trenches. Since the Spanish position was hopeless, our attack on 13 August was to a large extent a formality, designed to allow Jaudenes to capitulate with honor.